BERLIN, February 2.—Although the death of the Austrian Crown Prince will have no immediate effect upon the relations between Germany and Austria, the issues even have already engaged the auxious attention of Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. Since yesterday morning the Emperor has had two long interviews with the Chancellor, who has been in constant communication with Prince Henry of Reuss, the German Ambassador at Vienna, and Count Kalnoky, the subject of the correspondence being, it is reported, the succession to the Austrian throne.

The removal of Crown Prince Rudolf sale at $31,000 by the Sheriff yesterday, but is regarded by the official circle here as a found no takers. The removal of Crown Prince Rudolf misfortune for the alliance. The current reports that he was an opponent of the alliance, which had their origin in the French press, are declared to be mendacious absurdities. The truth is that Rudolf, although he had recently quarreled with Emperor William and was no special admirer of Bismarck, upheld the alliance as a political necessity. He wrote to Count Kalnoky when the terms of the alliance were revealed that he regarded it as the grandest achievement of the Austrian statesman for

GERMANY'S FEARS.

His legitimate successor, Karl Ludwig cannot be relied upon as a friend of the alliance. Throughout his 55 years of life he has not taken an active part in politics, leading a quiet existence as President of numerous benevolent and artistic societies. He is of an amiable disposition and a devout Catholic, but both he and his son, Franz, in whose favor he may abdirete are known to whose favor he may abdicate, are known to cline to an anti-German policy, favoring rather an entente with Russia.

The family holds large properties in Volhynia. Karl Ludwig has been a fre-quent visitor to the court of the Czar, toward whom he entertains a feeling of strong personal friendship, while Franz is credited with even stronger Russophile sentiments. Their near approach to the throne therefore gives the Government here cause for anxiety. Nothing can be done to ascertain officially the views of the present Emperor's successor until the family agita-tion over the catastrophe subsides. But the opinion in official circles here is that Prince Bismarck will seize the earliest opportunity to obtain through Emperor Francis Joseph a definite assurance of how the heir presumptive regards the alliance.

A HEROIC MONARCH.

The moral fortitude of Emperor Francis fact of the Crown Prince's suicide elicits Our Ind. general admiration. In his message to Emperor William he plainly stated the cause death. Emperor William's short response was: "Words cannot console. God's hely alone can do so. I weep with you.

The Austrian flag now waves at half mast over the Schloss beside the German Imperial flag. Emperor William has ordered the officers of the Grenadier Guards, of which Emperor Francis Joseph is honorary Colonel, and the Eleventh Uhlans, Crown Prince Rudolf's regiment to wear mourning for a week. Deputations from both regiments will attend the funeral.

The Reichstag treated the third reading of the East Africa bill with indifference. The attendance was thin. The only inci dent was the announcement by Herr Madgzinski that the Polish member voted against the second reading had devoted against the second reading had de-cided to support the measure on religious grounds, in view of the fact that it was directed against slavery. The Socialist Sabor repeated the old arguments against the measure, and Dr. Windthorst and Dr. Stoecker those in favor of it. No minister spoke. Captain Wissman went to Hamburg on Thursday to arrange contracts. To-night he has gone to Halle to bid farewell to his family.

A NOTABLE INCIDENT.

Notable among the recent incidents in the Reichstag was the efforts of the Progressits and Socialists to obtain an enlarged inspection of the condition of workers in factories. Herr Bebel commented on the inadequacy of the inspection, a single official having to overlook a district so ex-tended that it was impossible to give the same even a cursory examination. He urged an increase in the number of inspectors and the extension of the inspection to small workshops and household industries. He also favored publishing full reports on the state of the working classes instead of extracts arbitrarily selected by official

Herr von Boetticher denounced the pro-gressist plan for trade councils composed of workmen and employes as an inconvenience and a peril to the development of a commer-cial spirit. Herr von Boetticher's remarks again proved that the social reforms of the Government are designed to place workmen as far as possible under State tutelage. BAD FOR BISMARCK.

The Chancellor's enemies declare that his reign is nearing its close. The impression of the diplomatic circle is that though Bismarck's power over the Emperor is lessening, his position will remain secure until he retires; but that the succession of Count Herbert is doubtful. The announcement that Bismarck has ordered the exemption of foreigners from martial law in Samoa, and has instructed the German Consul to withdraw from the contest of the administration, has elicited only partial ap-The Vossiche Zeitung remarks that pro-

Baker, aged 30, son of Dr. Jesse Baker, of Gnodenhutten, Tuscarawas county, committed suicide here to-night by blowing out his brains. OLIVER CROMWELL

"You must not only strike the iron when it is hot, but you must heat it by striking."

That is just exactly what we have been doing with our "Forget-Me-Not" sale. Anybody can sell goods in May and June, when the clear skies and pleasant weather tempt thousands to promenade our principal thoroughfares. Anybody can sell goods in December, when tens of thousands of eager purchasers are on the lookout for Christmas and New Year's presents, and he is a wise merchant who at those times fills his show windows with his daintiest and most attractive wares. That is simply striking the iron while it is hot; that is simply availing onesself of a favorable trade wind; that is simply riding on the tide of commerce.

Anybody can do that. ut we do more than that. We create a demand for our wares in the dull month of February. In spite of rain and snow and blizzards, we draw people from their warm firesides and comfortable homes, to throng our stores and to buy freely. We not only trim our sails to the trade winds, but we manage to raise a breeze now and then, as the public knows. We not only ride on the topmost crest of the tide of commerce at its flow (last Christmas proved that), but we make the waves. In brief, to use the words of Oliver Cromwell: "We not only strike the iron when it is hot, but we heat it by striking."

So much by way of prelude. Now read the list of "Forget-Me-Not" Bargains, and you will see how we do it. Prices in first column are our regular prices.
